

It is a fact that the election of 1916 is being fought on a different basis from that of 1912. The issue is no longer the tariff, but the question of the power of the federal government. The Republicans are now the party of the states' rights, and the Democrats are the party of the federal government. This is a reversal of the positions of the two parties in 1912. The Republicans are now the party of the states' rights, and the Democrats are the party of the federal government. This is a reversal of the positions of the two parties in 1912.

As many now think that the question of the power of the federal government is the only issue in the election, they are making a mistake. There are many other issues in the election, and the voters should consider them all. The issue of the tariff is still important, but it is not the only issue. The issue of the power of the federal government is the only issue that is new to the election.

The city council of Lewiston, Idaho, has agreed to issue bonds for the purpose of building a bridge across the Clearwater river. The purpose of this is to give a better connection between the city and the surrounding country. The city council has agreed to issue bonds for the purpose of building a bridge across the Clearwater river.

There is little or no prospect for admission of Washington territory at this session. The House of Representatives has agreed to issue bonds for the purpose of building a bridge across the Clearwater river. The purpose of this is to give a better connection between the city and the surrounding country. The city council has agreed to issue bonds for the purpose of building a bridge across the Clearwater river.

ROLL OF HONOR.

What Shall the Teacher do? The school law of this state, title 5, section 50, says that one of the duties of the teacher is to give instruction to the pupils in the principles of civility and good conduct. The teacher should also give instruction in the principles of civility and good conduct.

EXTRA SESSION TALK.

Private advice from Washington states that there is a very general desire among senators to avoid an extra session after the 4th of March. The only difficulty in the way has been the fact that the session would be a very long one. It has been understood that since the date of the session would be a very long one, it has been understood that since the date of the session would be a very long one.
